

THE CHURCH OF OGDENSBURG AFTER VATICAN II
Presentation to Diocesan Staff, September 30, 2010
Sister Mary Christine Taylor, S.S.J.

I. Why Study History? Pope Benedict's Talk to Youth at Sulmona on July 4, 2010
(L'Osservatore Romano)

... Without memory there is no future.

It was once said that History is a teacher of life! The contemporary consumer society tends instead to relegate human beings to the present, to make them lose their sense of the past, of history; but by so doing it also deprives them of the ability to understand themselves, to perceive problems and to build the future.

... I want to say to you: the Christian is someone who has a good memory, who loves history and seeks to know it ... to appreciate his experience today in a world that is so different ... to rediscover certain things that are always worthwhile, that are perennial, for example, the ability to listen to God in external and above all internal silence.

... If we look at the history of the Church, we see that it is peopled by a wealth of Saints and Blesseds who, precisely by starting from an intense and constant dialogue with God, illumined by faith, were able to find creative, ever new solutions to respond to practical human needs in all the centuries: health, education, work, etc. Their entrepreneurial character was motivated by the Holy Spirit and by a strong and generous love for their brethren, especially for the weakest and most underprivileged....

Dear young people, let yourselves be totally won over by Christ! Love the Church: she has given you faith; she has introduced you to Christ.

- Appointed Bishop of Ogdensburg, February 1963; installation, May 13, 1963
- Died at the Vatican Council in Rome, October 9, 1963

Bishop Smith's Era as Bishop of Ogdensburg:

1. Expectations for Vatican II:

I think we will see a streamlining of the Church and in a sense, a return to apostolic times when the apostles could be gathered together quickly as agreed in the Acts of the Apostles for decisions on acts of the Church. . . The effect of the Council will depend on how much the whole Church participates in it. It will depend on how much the North Country participates in it. The Council, from the first one in Jerusalem, is the work of the Holy Spirit and the Holy Spirit has willed that His action depends on the prayers, on the saintly lives, and on the sacrifices of the members of the Holy Church and, so, everyone here in this North Country can take part in the Council by joining his intention to that of the Holy Church by practicing love of neighbor and by practicing our first purpose in life, the praise of Almighty God through fervent prayer. (Television Interview)

- 2. Visitation of all deaneries and of the Mission of Peru, South America
- 3. Laid cornerstone for new Wadhams Hall
- 4. Broke ground for Avila Hall Dormitory at Mater Dei
- 5. Attended Second Session of Vatican II on September 29, 1963. Died, October 9, 1963

Msgr. Berube wrote: A saint has passed from our midst. A saint is one who makes Christ lovable and such a man was Bishop Smith. To meet him was to love him, for his smile radiated the kindness of Christ.
